Lesser Known Signers of the Immortal Declaration.

Their Courage and Faith Deserves Recognition Along With Those Whose Names Are Now Household Words in the Nation.

Fifty of those fifty-six men were present during the discussion and for $2 a month, less took part in the general move- Sun. ment by signifying themselves in faver of it, and were allowed to sign. Thomas Jefferson, as the author of the Declaration, attained a lasting sinecures such as those held by Horace fame, as did John Hancock, president Walpole still abounded, and to the end of the continental congress.

All Bravely Did Their Share.

But of the men who stand outside of that ring of immortality much can be said. If Jefferson, Hancock and Lee were generals, the others were at the same time essential to the Declaration. They, as much as the others, affixed their names to what was at that time an extremely dangerous document. They, as well as the others, burned their bridges behind them and took their stand firmly upon their conviction. It required the signatures of recognized delegates from each of the 13 states to make the Declaration of Independence complete

If the veil of 138 years could be lifted and those days lived over again, it would be interesting to see with what emotions those men among men took the stand for independence. It would be inspiring to hear the tone in which each gave his answer when called upon to vote for or against the ratification of that which was to give this country its freedom. But it would have been even more dramatic to have hovered near the desk on which the digious association to them. From San-Declaration lay and watched each man as he came forward and affixed his signature, a lasting testimonial to the world, and Great Britain, especially, of the courage for and faith in the new country these men were creating.

The precise hour of the day of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence is not determinable from records. It is known, however, that congress entered upon direct consideration of the question on the first of July, 1776, by voting to resolve itself miss the case into a committee of the whole to con-Richard Henry Lee, and to refer the are "- Life draft of the Declaration to this combe free and independent states"

OLD WORLD BARBERS.

Their Prices Are Low and Methods In Some Cases Are Crude.

The barber shops of the United States and Canada are the finest in the world and charge the highest prices. Comparatively few cities of Europe use American chairs, and many of these run their barber shops in con nection with men's furnishing stores.

SHOULD NOT BE FORGOTTEN In most European cities a hair cut end a shampoo cost 6 cents, and in parts of London a shave costs 4 cents In some Italian cities 1 cent is charged for a shave and 2 cents for a hair cut, and in Turkey barbers take their en tire pay in tips.

Some British Sinecures.

Gladstone was born at a time when sinecures such as those held by Horace of his life he took a lenient view of the persons who profited by them A. G. C. Liddell records in his diary on March 12, 1892; "Dined with the Cobhams Mr Gladstone there . . . Some one alluded to the diminution of sinecures Mr Gladstone said that there was nothing dishonorable in accepting a sinecure if it was recognized by the society in which it existed and not considered unusual or unworthy One of the list sinecures, where there was absolutely nothing to do, which was not the case with all sinecures, was the office of chief justice in eyre. north of the Trent It was held by Tom Duncombe and was worth £12,000 per annum."-London Spectator Origin of Smoking. The origin of the custom of smoking is velled in mystery. The Chinese are thought to have had the habit at a very early date, and this is not surprising, judging today from the Chinaman's fondness for the pipe. When Columbus discovered America he found smoking indulged in by all the tribes of Indians, but the practice had a reto Domingo tobacco was introducd into Samoan Natives Keep Stevenson' Spain and Portugal in 1559, but it was then used in the shape of snuff. ### MOODY REBELLED.

Moving a Vote of Thanks Was Not In His Line That Night.

Dwight L. Moody during his first visit to England attended a meeting at which the Earl of Shaftesbury was chairman. The duty of proposing a vote of thanks was assigned to him and the announcement made:

"Our American cousin, the Rev. Mr. Moody of Chicago, will now move a vote of thanks to the noble earl who has presided on this occasion."

The whole thing was quite out of Mr. Moody's line. With an utter disregard of conventionality he burst upon the audience with the bold announce ment:

"The speaker has made two mis takes. To begin with, I'm not the Rev. Mr. Moody at all. I'm plain Dwight L. Moody, a Sunday school worker. And then I'm not your American cousin. By the grace of God I'm your brother, interested with you in our Fa ther's work for his children.

"And now about this vote of thanks to the 'noble earl for being our chairman this evening.' I don't see why we should thank him any more than he should thank us. When at one time they offered to thank our Mr. Lincoln for presiding over a meeting in Illinois his duty and they'd tried to do theirs all around

That opening fairly took the breath away from Mr Moody's hearers. Such a talk could not be ganged by any known standard Mr Moody carried his English audiences with him from that beginning to his latest labors

If you should ever happen to be wandering about the Choco section of Colombia it would be well to have an eye out for the sobbing monkey. this animal gets on your trail you might as well ring down the curtain and put a period after yourself.

When it gets after the Colombian In dians, according to H. G. Spurrell, naturalist and member of the London School of Tropical Medicine, the Indian listens to the beast's soul withering sobs for three days and three nights and then commits suicide.

Mr Spurrell says that the sobbing monkey is pink and is one of the most rare animals in South America. For reasons that have never been made clear the sobbing monkey will at cer tain times in the year leave its home in the most impenetrable wilderness and go to the nearest Indian encampment, where it will select its victim and follow him day and night, keeping up a continual weeping and wailing. According to tribal traditions this is a sure sign that the victim will shortly be taken with the sleeping sickness or some other fatal disease. It has been he stopped it. ### MIND AND HEALTH.

Physical Conditions Often at the Mercy of Mental Attitudes.

A scientist writes; "A woman fan cled she taid swallowed a frog and was rapidly sinking. The efforts of physicians fasted to afford her relief It occurred to some one that she might be deluded into health. A tiny frog was caught and put into a tube with which they were attempting to wash out her stomach. When the frog was thrown out of the tube the girl expressed relief and said she hoped they were satisfied her complaints had a real foundation. In a short time she was restored to health. This is only one of the instances in which the mind "No one doubts that persons have

A Lonesome Dankey.

One summer Mr. Onkes, an eminent lawyer, sent his wife and young daughter to a farmhouse in the White mountains for a vacation. Shortly after he received an urgent request from the little girl to send her a pet donkey to use while there. She had read about donkeys and heard about them, but was not at all familiar with their peculiar vocalism

The donkey arrived, and the child had many rides around the vicinity. She enjoyed it all hugely, except the animal's stronge noises, which inspired her with the profoundest pity for his evident distress One day after valuity trying to sub-

SOUND BUSINESS MAXIMS.

Use Your Ability and Take No Stock in the Law of Chance.

Most men who have amounted to anything started with nothing but ability and determination, a combination which recognizes no man made limitations.

Any kind of work is better than idleness, which is directly responsible for most of the unhappiness in this world. Idleness is a dangerous thing. It may grow into a habit that might stick to you after you get back in harness, and the man who loafs on his job is only fooling himself. Eternal, intelligent effort is the price of commercial growth, and where there is no progression there is bound to be retrogression. Business is something like aeroplaning-to stop is to drop. and to drop is generally to bust.

If I had an enemy and wanted to get even with him I could wish him noth ing worse than to land in a soft job and get the loafing habit. It would only be a question of time before he or the job petered out, and the longer he held on the worst off he'd be in the end, for there is a law of compensation which somehow or other makes us work in old age for the time we waste in youth or suffer if we can't make

Pin your faith to this law of compensation, but don't take any stock in the law of chance; there's no such thing. Waiting for something to turn up in the belief that things are bound to come your way eventually is throwing dice with fate. He Was a Shy Man, Too, but Surprised the Clever Amateur. He was standing looking idly round him when I came forward to the starting tee at Blackhill golf course a little dapper man, whom any one would have guessed could not play for nuts. Perhaps that latter iden is what caused me to ask if he meant to play a round. I should love to give some body a proper whacking.

"I would like a round," he said, al-

He took a dirty ball from his pocket made an easy sort of swipe at it, and I have never seen a ball so enger to get to the hole as that one was. His method of attack seemed to consist of allowed me to win a hole or two. I have never felt so completely humiliated in all my life, yet he was quiet, inoffensive and almost shy.

"You are a brilliant golfer." I gushed as we made for the nineteenth hole. "Oh, ay, I ha'e to be!" he said quietly. "It's my work, ye see; it's my work!
